For seven years we have curated the best of the Queen City's culture while connecting readers with engaging human interest and lifestyle stories.

In 2018, we expanded the size of each issue by an average of 16 pages and grew our digital and social media presence by thousands of followers and tens of thousands of views. Because of this, our advertisers saw various new marketing opportunities. From distribution to over 500 businesses throughout the Charlotte region to exclusive sponsored events with highly targeted audiences, our advertising partners continue to enjoy the benefits of this evolution.

QC Exclusive works best on the relationships we build. Our creative department works to improve advertiser brand awareness, the editorial and digital staff craft the finest content, and account representatives promote lasting partnerships. Together, we are simply like-minded individuals who want to share the best that Charlotte and the Carolinas have to offer.
